Think Whole Person Healthcare Makes it Easy to Refill Prescriptions with Pharmacy App

Omaha, NE — Think Whole Person Healthcare announced today the availability of a pharmacy mobile app to make refilling prescriptions easy. People with prescriptions at Think simply download the app to their smart phones and enter their prescriptions. The app is password protected and allows for additional convenience functions such as re-order reminders and pharmacy hours.

Think's pharmacy is the largest in the region. Clinical pharmacists work closely with the other healthcare providers at Think to coordinate patient care. The pharmacy's unique approach also sees it pouch medications eliminating the need for pill counters and bottles. Patients can get their medications onsite, by delivery or by mail. "Our pharmacy serves thousands of people in this community with the utmost care. Part of that care is convenience," said director of Pharmacy Nabil Laham. "Adding an app to re-order prescriptions is just one more way we're making life easier for Think pharmacy customers."

To download the app, patients search the app store for mobileRX, enter Think's pharmacy phone number, 402-506-9010, and simply scan their pill bottle UPC code or enter the prescription number. Available refills also show up automatically once you create a secure profile to be reordered.
